Shaping
A Changing
World

Porter's students recently participated in InterMission, a three-week experiential program that matches students' passions and interests. Students engaged in meaningful work that cuts across traditional educational boundaries. The program is designed to inspire students to be passionate as well as curious as they learn to become informed, bold, resourceful, and ethical global citizens.

Ninth graders assembled a pop-up thrift shop as part of a meaningful, collaborative, service-learning project with a local organization.

Tenth graders went winter camping in the Berkshires and hiked the Metacomet Trail, engaging in courses that encourage competence and confidence in themselves as they explore their relationship with the natural world.

Eleventh graders traveled to Vietnam, South Africa, Japan, France, and Spain, engaging in an international, school-based immersion experience as part of a year-long Global Citizenship curriculum.

Twelfth graders participated in internships facilitated by Ancients at a variety of organizations, including Sotheby's, The New York Times, and the Special Olympics, as they prepare to fulfill the final words of our mission statement and go on to shape a changing world.

The InterMission curriculum is entirely funded through philanthropy and donors like you. Please give back today by making your best gift so that future Porter's students can benefit from the same life-enriching opportunities.
