Dear Brenda,

Let your imagination run wild.

Flint Hill students do this every day.

Walk into the Junior Kindergarten classroom and you'll find an airport. Rather than simply studying airports and how they work, JKers built their own—complete with a security checkpoint and passport office that they staffed themselves!

Listen in the Middle School hallways and you'll hear Henry Ford debating with Oprah Winfrey in a seventh grade history class. During a "March Madness" style debate, students face-off using what they've learned about the leadership and communication styles of various historical figures.

Watch Upper School students bring the Nutcracker to life. Our students combined their individual talents as film producers, technology gurus, dancers and green-screen set designers to deliver a virtual production we will all remember.

Students are encouraged to push themselves and take meaningful risks. They know teachers will be there to help them along their way.

They need you as well.

You can unleash their potential—inside the classroom and beyond.

Please support our students and teachers today with your gift to the Annual Fund. Your commitment has never been more important than it is now.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Leslie Hutchens
